

NOTES ON CONTRIBUTORS

Javier Alonso is the Director of the Department of Administration, Research Professor of Marketing, and a member of the Economics Faculty at the Universidad Autonoma in Madrid, Spain.

Malcolm Brewer is Principal Placement Officer at Sheffield City Polytechnic in Sheffield, England. He is a Fellow in the World Association for Cooperative Education and was that organization's first (1983) recipient of the Don McLaren Award for his contributions to international cooperative education.

Robert S. Davie is an educational and engineering consultant and is a former Director of Swinburne Institute of Technology, Hawthorne, Victoria, Australia. He is a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education and a member of its Council.

I. A. Toni LeBold is Coordinator of Special Projects in the Department of Co-operative Education and Career Services at the University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada. Since 1987 she has been Editor of the newsletter for the Canadian Association for Co-operative Education.

Li Lianchang is Professor of Agricultural Entomology at the Shanxi Agricultural University, Shanxi Province, People's Republic of China. His specialization is fruit tree pest control. He was a participant in discussions of cooperative education at the Third Sino-American Conference on Education held in 1988 at Shanxi University.

Torsten Lundgren is Deputy Director of the Swedish Employers Confederation, Stockholm, Sweden. He has studied cooperative education in America extensively and attended the CEA Annual Conference in Los Angeles. He has been a major catalyst for the development of cooperative education in Sweden.

Boon Hwang Ng has a Master of Science degree in Industrial Engineering and a Diploma in Business Administration. He is Director of the Industrial Liaison Unit and Director of the Innovation Centre at the Nanyang Technological Institute in Singapore. He was a delegate and presenter at the Sixth World Conference on Cooperative Education, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, August, 1989.

Richard A. Pullin is Program Administrator for Applied Science in the Department of Co-operative Education at the University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada. He is a charter member of the Canadian Association for Co-operative Education and was President in 1986. He was Chairman of the Program Committee for the Sixth World Conference on Co-operative Education held in Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, August, 1989.

James K. Russell is Head of the Department of Production Engineering at Swinburne Institute of Technology, Hawthorne, Victoria, Australia. He is a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education.

Alfred Sangster is President of College of Arts, Science & Technology, Kingston, Jamaica. He was a delegate to the Sixth World Conference on Co-operative Education, Hamilton, Ontario, Canada, August, 1989.

Thomas H. J. Stoelinga is Chairman of the Executive Board of the Leeuwarden College of Higher Professional Education, Leeuwarden, The Netherlands. He is a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education and a member of its Council.

Lennart Strandler is currently Consultant to the Swedish Employers Confederation. He has studied cooperative education extensively in the United States, attended several CEA conferences, and has been a principal advocate for cooperative education

Robert E. Vozzella is Professor and Director of International Cooperative Education at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, U.S.A. He is a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education, its 1985 recipient of the Don McLaren Award for his contributions to international cooperative education, and the Editor of its newsletter Global Newslink.

James C. Wilson is Director of the Department of Co-operative Education at the University of Waterloo, Waterloo, Ontario, Canada. He is a founding member of the Canadian Association for Co-operative Education and a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education.

James W. Wilson is the Editor of the Journal of Cooperative Education and the Asa S. Knowles Professor of Cooperative Education Emeritus at Northeastern University, Boston, Massachusetts, U.S.A. He is a Fellow of the World Association for Cooperative Education.